THE LEGEND OF THE FIRST FLOWERS

Flowers, nature's most beautiful and wonderful creation... where did they come from?

According to legend, when God created the earth... and it was finished, He made a large rainbow. All the angels walked out onto the rainbow to look at earth. Their weight caused the rainbow to crack, and small fragments fell on the earth... these tiny bits were the first flowers.

We will be writing this column titled "Flower Talk" in this newspaper. Our writing will be about different flowers and how you can effectively use and enjoy them. Won't you join us... and in the meantime if you need flowers call us at PH 7-2631.

Says Teachers Being Took for a Ride

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Forrest Pozzell, executive secretary of the Arkansas Education Association, says that teachers and the public school program are "being taken for a fiscal ride."

"There is nothing in Gov. (Winthrop) Rockefeller's proposed financial plan which justifies his assertion that he is giving top priority to the public schools and teachers' salaries," Pozzell said Saturday.

HOPE (ARK) STAR. Printed by Offset

Pozzell stated his views in an analysis by the AEA's board of directors of the governor's proposed finance plan.

The board's analysis said the public school fund will lack $1.74 million having enough money to finance the public school fund budget.

Says Milk Price Drop Steadily

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Rep. W. R. Page, D-Tex., chairman of the House Committee on Agriculture, told members of the Central Arkansas Milk Producers Association here Saturday that prices received by farmers have dropped for six consecutive months.

Page said that if the sharply declining farm prices are not quickly remedied it will imperil food abundance and severely restrict the United States' participation in a world war on hunger.

"I'm wondering how long we can continue to produce an abundance of food and fiber for our own people," Page said, "not to mention food for starving populations abroad if we do not act firmly to establish reasonable rewards for the people in agriculture."

MR. AND MRS. CLIFTON RAY PURTLE

In a double ring ceremony solemnized Friday evening, February 3, at the home of the brides parents, Miss Sandra Kaye Ward became the bride of Clifton Ray Purtle.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pierre Malardier and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Ray Purtle, Ark., was best man.

Mrs. Pierre Malardier, mother of the bride, chose for her daughter's wedding a beige linen with matching accessories and wore a pink carnation corsage.

Mrs. Olen R. Purtle, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a blue wool suit with matching accessories and pinned a white carnation corsage at her shoulder.

Mrs. Elsie Ward of Strong, Ark., grandmother of the bride, wore a pastel gray dress. Her corsage was white carnations.

Distributing rice bags was little Miss Barbara Cummings, niece of the bridegroom. She wore a pastel blue tulle embroidered dress.

Miss Carolyn Smith of Hot Springs, attended the bride's book, which was beautifully decorated with a large white Bible atopped with a bridal bouquet of peau se sole, also with satin leaves and rhinestones with white satin streamers tied in loveknots. By the side of the table was a white candelabra holding a yellow candle with white satin bows tied in streamers.

The reception was held following the ceremony. The table was laid with a floor length white organdy cloth over taffeta. The center piece was a three tiered arrangement with a miniature bride standing in a gateway surrounded by yellow peau de sole roses and leaves and pearls. A white dove was perched on top of the gateway. On each side of the table was two candle holders holding yellow tapers with yellow streamers. At each corner of the table there was also roses of peau de sole with satin leaves and rhinestones with yellow streamers tied in loveknots.

One end of the table there was a beautiful 3-tiered white wedding cake with yellow roses, atopped with a miniature bride and groom. At the other end was a beautiful cut glass punch bowl, from which Miss Judy Owens of Magnolia, poured the frosted punch and Mrs. Margie Cummings, sister of the bridegroom, served the cake. All the house party wore white carnation corsages.

all of Hope. Bro. Milton Peebles, Minister of Walnut Street Church of Christ, performed the ceremony by candlelight, before an altar decorated with an arch of greenery. Tall pedestal baskets of white gladioli and stock with cascading sprays of greenery were placed on each side. Seven branch candelabras holding white cathedral tapers with green and satin bows of ribbon cast a soft glow over the setting.

Nuptial music was provided by a record that played, "I Love you Truly," "Because," and "The Wedding March."

Candlelighters were Paul Rene' Malardier, brother of the bride and Steve Cummings, nephew of the bridegroom. The bride entered the living room on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She chose for her wedding a street length, A line dress of white wool. A fingertip veil of matching fabric was held in place by satin leaves and rhinestones. Her only jewelry was a strand of pearls. She carried a Cascade-bouquet of white feathered carnations and an white orchid atop a white Bible, a gift of an aunt, with white satin streamers tied in loveknots. The bride carried out the traditional, "something old, new, borrowed, and blue, with a sixpence in her shoe."

Miss Ann Coley, of Ashdown, was Maid of Honor. She wore a street length two piece suit of paisley print with matching accessories. She carried a nosegay bouquet of yellow pom poms, with white feathered carnations with satin leaves and ribbon streamers.

Mr. David Hipp, of Magnolia, sages.

Out of town guests attending the wedding were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Madlock of Pine Bluff, Mrs. Elsie Ward and Mrs. Chester Meshell of Strong, Mr. David Stanley, Texarkana, Miss Carolyn Smith, Hot Springs, Miss Judy Owens, and Mr. David Hipp, Magnolia, Miss Ann Cooley, Ashdown, Mr. and Mrs. Dee Cummings, Steve, Barbara, Freddie, and Mark of McGehee.

For the short wedding trip the bride wore a blue wool dress with matching accessories and pinned the orchid from her bouquet to her shoulder. They are making their home on the Rosston Road.

Coming. Going

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Polk of West Memphis and Ethel Polk of Stephens visited Pearl Polk and Haison Sutton here Saturday.

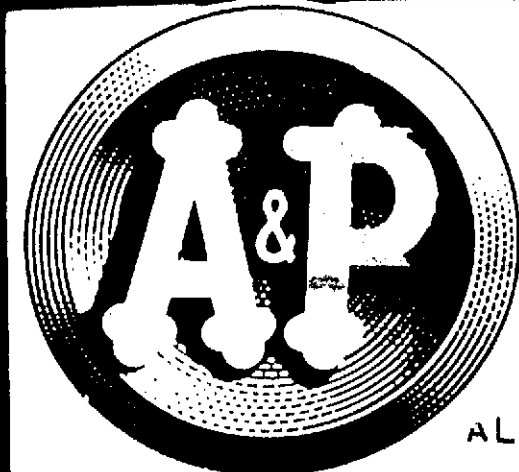

Mrs. Thompson Evans, Jr. and Roy Anderson returned last week from a visit in Albuquerque, N. M., with Mrs. W. F. Broening.

Winner to Face Very Hard Task

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Brighton Young and Wyoming are going to play a basketball game in Salt Lake City Saturday in which there may not be a winner.

The loser has to play in the consolation game, but the winner, that is, the one with the highest score, has the unenviable task of playing UCLA in the first round of the NCAA basketball championships.

The game, to select the Western Athletic Conference representative, is one of five which will determine representatives to the NCAA's leading tournament. The others are in the Southeastern, Big Ten, Big Eight and Atlantic Coast conferences.

The No. 2 teams in the Big Eight and the Atlantic Coast will compete for the bracket for the National Invitation tournament, which gets under way in New York Thursday. The NCAA opens with first round eliminations Saturday in four locations.

But none of the teams in the two major postseason tournaments have a problem as large as that faced by the survivors of the BYU-Wyoming playoff, who must play undefeated and upstart UCLA in a regional semifinal at Corvallis, Ore.

The mighty Bruins, paced, of course, by 7-foot-11 sophomore superstar Lew Alcindor, returned to a 104-85 victory over California at Berkeley Saturday night. Alcindor scored 31 points.

That pushed their record to 25-0 for the season, and 23 in a row over two years. They are, by a long way, the favorite to win it all, including the showdown in Louisville, Ky., March 31. They have the more regular-season game, at home Saturday against Southern California.

The Wyoming-BYU playoff was set up last weekend when Wyoming came from 12 points back and upset New Mexico 61-54 at Albuquerque and gained a first-place tie with BYU in the WAC. Utah has a 2-2 conference record. BYU wound up with a 10-5 decision over Arizona. BYU had a 14-5 overall record, Wyoming 13-13.

Tennessee, 20-5, can clinch the Southeastern Conference title and an NCAA spot tonight by beating Mississippi State on the road. The Vols clinched at least a tie Saturday when Rod Wilby's 15 points led an 87-65 run of Volunteers State.

Vanderbilt played one game back by routing Kentucky 115-54. Kansas, 20-5 and No. 4 in the nation, can clinch the Big Eight title and an NCAA spot tonight by beating Colorado. The Jayhawks clinched at least a share of the crown Saturday with a 64-57 decision over Nebraska.

Here's the situation in the other conference races still undecided in which the winner goes to the NCAA:

Big Ten — Indiana was upset by Illinois 67-60 and dropped into a first place tie with Michigan State, 15-11 victory over Purdue. Indiana and Michigan State are 2-4, followed by Iowa, Wisconsin and Northwestern, each 1-5. The league championship probably won't be known until this weekend's final regular season games.

Atlantic Coast — A conference tournament this weekend determines the league champion. North Carolina, No. 3 nationally and 21-4, drew the top seed after a 92-74 decision over North Carolina State.

The NCAA's first round action opens Saturday at basketball venues: Kingston, P.R.; Lexington, Ky.; and Fort Collins, Colo., with survivors going on to the regional semifinals March 17 at Corvallis, College Park, Md.; Evansville, Ind.; and Lawrence, Kan.

Big Ten — Indiana, 20-5, and Michigan State, 20-5, are the top seeds in the first round. Indiana is the first round line-up at Kingston, P.R. — West Virginia, 19-6, vs. Princeton, 23-2, and Kentucky, 19-6, vs. Virginia Tech, 23-3.

Big Ten — Connecticut, 19-6, vs. Boston College, 19-2, and Kentucky, 19-6, vs. Virginia Tech, 23-3.

Big Ten — Connecticut, 19-6, vs. Boston College, 19-2, and Kentucky, 19-6, vs. Virginia Tech, 23-3.

Miss Fleming All Grace in Skating

By MARTIN ZUCKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
VIENNA, AP — The world's best figure skaters — past and present — said the winners in the 1967 World Figure Skating Championships will dominate the competition next year in the Winter Olympics.

They say there is nobody yet who can match the grace and precision of Peggy Fleming of Colorado Springs, Colo., in the women's skating.

They say that Emmerich Danzer, the Viennese pro's son, still is supreme in the men's division and that Russia's Ludmila Belousova and Oleg Protopopov, although both in their 30s, can still hold off a pack of talented young challengers.

And all agree that England's Diane Towler and Bernard Ford are the best of the ice dancers.

Dick Button, one of the world's all-time great figure skaters and now a television sports producer, made this prediction for the 1968 winter Olympics at Grenoble, France: "If this year's winners skate as good as they can, they will win again."

Two-time women's champ, Miss Fleming, an 18-year-old Colorado college freshman, put the finger on Yevgeny Magnusen of Canada as an underdog.

At 14, Miss Magnusen was the youngest skater in the women's competition and finished 12th.

"She is a fireball on ice," Miss Fleming said, "and she has the temperament and talent to be a champion."

Asked about her plans, blase Peggy said she was thinking only of the ahead as the Olympic Games.

Carol Fetti, Miss Fleming's coach and a two-time European champion, named Czechoslovakia's Rada Maszkova and Miss Magnusen as Peggy's top challengers.

Men's champ Danzer, a tall, good-looking 20-year-old, said he would turn professional after the Olympic Games.

Danzer singled out countryman Wolfgang Schwarz and Gary Houston of Detroit to be his main rivals when he leaves the amateur scene.

Schwarz led Danzer in the compulsory figures but Danzer edged him out for the title with a brilliant free skating program.

Wisconsin surged from fifth in the compulsory to an overall third, despite a spill in the free skating finale.

Dana Dyer and John Carrel of Seattle, Wash., were second in the dance competition and Scott Arnold of Emma House, N.J., was fifth in the men's division.

Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of Seattle were third in the pairs event.

And Texas Western, 20-5, vs. Temple, 17-7.

The MFL has Marshall, 18-6, vs. Villanova 17-8, and Southern Illinois, 20-2 vs. St. Peter's, 17-7, in a first round doubleheader Thursday.

The first round will be completed Saturday with afternoon and night doubleheaders. Those participating have New Mexico, 18-7, vs. Kansas, 20-5 and Memphis State, 17-8, vs. Providence, 20-4, in the afternoon and Marquette, 19-6, vs. Tulsa, 19-7, and Rutgers, 18-6, vs. Utah State, 19-5, tonight.

West Virginia, Temple and Pacific then went into the NCAA only last weekend.

West Virginia stopped Davidson 61-45 in the final of the Southern Conference tournament at Charlotte, N.C., while Temple took LaSalle 78-61 in the final of the Middle Atlantic Conference tourney in Philadelphia.

Pacific stopped UCal, Santa Barbara 102-77 for its 18th consecutive victory and second straight WAC championship.

Ryun Shows He Can Turn on Speed

By RON RAPPOPORT

Associated Press Sports Writer
Tracy Smith got a taste of glory before disappearing into the U.S. Army and Jim Ryun showed he can turn on the speed when he pleased before meeting what may be his biggest test in several years.

Smith, who recently dropped out of Oregon State University and plans to go into the service, surprised everybody at the AAU championships in Oakland including himself—Saturday when he set an indoor record in the three mile with a time of 10:10.2.

And Ryun, the University of Kansas sophomore who is world record holder in the mile, ran the fastest indoor mile of the season, 4:03.4, at the Big Eight championships at Kansas City.

Smith, 21, of Arcadia, Calif., had help on his way to breaking Don Clarke's indoor mark of 10:11.4. He took the lead from Oscar Moore of Southern Illinois University with three laps to go.

The pace had been so fast that even though Moore finished six seconds behind Smith, his time, 10:22.2, was the third fastest ever recorded indoors. And Van Nelson of St. Cloud, Minn., State was third in 10:23.9, fourth best indoor clocking.

"I didn't even know I had a chance for the record," Smith said later. "I wish they had announced the time. I wondered why the crowd was cheering and then I began to see people's eyes popping out alongside the track."

There were no eyes popping at Ryun's performance. Sub-minute miles from the 19-year-old whose world record is 3:51.3 are commonplace.

Still, Ryun has passed up most of the big indoor meets this winter to concentrate on collegiate competition and was never really pressed to win until Saturday.

Kansas State's Conrad Nightingale pushed Ryun on to his good time a week before the NCAA championships in Detroit.

Nightingale ran the first half in 2:00.7 and Ryun stayed with him for 20 more laps and then moved off to a three-quarters time of 3:01.3 and a 5:05 final quarter.

Ryun is entered in the 880 at Detroit and, though changes can be made before the competition, he is likely to meet Villanova's Dave Patrick in that event.

Patrick, who had the only sub-4-minute mile of the current season before Ryun's effort, could give the Kansas a rough test. He won the mile in the NCAA indoor championships in New York Saturday, leading Villanova to the team victory.

Other AAU winners were Willie Davidson of Southern University at 7.6 in the 50-yard high hurdles, Jim Kemp of the Long Beach 49ers in the 500 with a 1:10.6 clocking, Sam Bair of Kent State with a 4:03.2 mile and Preston Davis of the 49ers at 2:05.4 in the 1,000.

Illinois Given 11 Days Grace

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. (AP) — The University of Illinois has 11 days left to comply with the Big Ten ultimatum — fire three coaches or show cause why its conference membership should not be suspended or terminated.

Illinois was dealt two major setbacks over the weekend by Big Ten faculty representatives meeting in Chicago.

The faculty representatives upheld the previous decision of conference athletic directors to fire football Coach Pete Elliott, basketball Coach Harry Combes and assistant Coach Howie Braun.

Then the faculty men lowered the boom on athletes involved in the slush fund scandal which was revealed last December when five Illinois players were ruled permanently ineligible.

Two others were given one-year suspensions, while six unidentified football players and freshman basketball player Randy Crews were restored to eligibility because the help they received from the $21,000 fund was considered trivial.

Although falling in its appeal Friday, Illinois kept alive its hopes of saving the jobs of the three coaches.

Illinois has one more appeal, at which time it must show cause why the three coaches shouldn't be fired or face the possibility of expulsion from the Big Ten.

Illinois has until March 17 to serve notice on the show cause appeal.

After that a mutual date will be set for the hearing. Illinois can bypass the entire matter by firing the three coaches, a move Dr. David Henry, university president, has indicated he has not considered.

The five players who were declared permanently ineligible were halfback Cyril Pinder, basketball stars Rich Jones and Ron Dunlap and freshman griders Derek Faison and Bob Stephens.

Those given one-year suspensions were Steve Kuterski, a sophomore basketball reserve, and Oscar Polite, freshman

Sanders Has Advantage of Miscoe

MIAMI, Florida, (AP) — Doug Sanders came through with a solid 70 while Thomas Aaron could show only a sad smile for his efforts in the final round of Doral Open Golf Tournament Sunday.

Sanders wound up with a nine-under-par 275 to win the $25,000 first prize and Aaron shook his head in disbelief after a quadruple bogey on the ninth hole.

"No," Aaron said, "I don't feel like I'm jinxed."

But many others felt differently when disaster struck the amiable, 30-year-old Georgian just when a big dream — his first victory on the golf trail — seemed about to come true.

A water hazard and an official penalty saddled Aaron with the monstrous quadruple bogey just as the title seemed in his grasp.

And Sanders came through the wreckage to take it away from him.

Aaron had come close before. He had led several other tournaments and finished hot on the heels of the leaders.

But he had never been in such a position as to be enjoyed Sunday. Coming up to the 33rd hole, he was 10 under par, leading South African Harold Henning by one stroke and the old pros, Jack Nicklaus and Sanders, by two.

Then came the ninth, a simple, 181-yard, par-3 hole. His tee shot splashed just off the water's edge into a lake guarding the left side of the green.

The water just covered the ball and Aaron took off a shoe, placed his right foot ankle deep in the water, and blasted out. The ball cleared the water by two feet.

Shaken, Aaron clipped over the green and back and two-punted for a double bogey 5.

He still had hopes until Wade Cagle, assistant tournament supervisor, asked him if he knew that he had ripped the water on his back wing, which would be the same as grounding the club in a sand trap.

"I told him no," Aaron said. "The wind was high, I was standing in the water, and I had to move when I swung. I think that may have caused the ripples."

He filed a protest but it was not allowed and he took an additional two-stroke penalty.

"I was never so upset by a ruling," Aaron said. "I was never so disturbed by anything in my life. I couldn't come back from it."

Henning and Art Wall tied for second at 276. Nicklaus took fourth at 277.

Aaron, taking 277 for 278, wound up in a five-way tie for fifth with George Archer, Lionel Hebert, Bobby Nichols and Miller Barber.

Quebec Is

Now Back

in Business

Rogatien Vachon, an eight-game wonder from Palmatelle, and Yvan Cournoyer, a two-minute flash from Drummondville, have put the province of Quebec back in business in the National Hockey League stretch race.

The French-Canadian youngsters provided the spark Sunday in a 2-0 Montreal victory over New York that completed a weekend sweep for the defending NHL champions and tightened the battle for second place behind Chicago's runaway leaders.

Vachon, 21, posted his first shutout, turning aside 29 shots, in his eighth start as the Canadiens' goaltender. Cournoyer, a 23-year-old specialist who rarely plays unless the opposition is short-handed, scored the deciding goal-boosting his team-leading total to 21 for the season.

Bobby Hull fired his 45th and 46th goals as the Black Hawks increased their lead to 16 points by snapping Toronto's 10-game unbeaten string 5-2 and Bruce MacGregor's two goals led Detroit past Boston 5-3 in Sunday night action.

Vachon lost a shutout in the closing minutes of Saturday night's 6-2 victory over Detroit. Hull continued to close in on the 50-goal mark, firing a 45-footer past Johnny Eower in the second period and connecting again in the finale against Terry Sawchuk.

Sawchuk replaced Eower after the starting goalie injured his knee in a collision

Jacobs May Have a Derby Winner

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Maybe Hirsch Jacobs has a Kentucky Derby winner in his barn at long last.

The explosive come-from-behind stretch burst of Reflected Glory in the $144,500 Flamingo Stakes at Hialeah last Friday made the canny trainer from Forest Hills, N.Y., a happy man.

Jacobs never has won a Kentucky Derby, but the impressive victory of Reflected Glory has given him a stout contender for the Triple Crown classics for 3-year-olds. The colt runs in the silks of Jacobs' wife, Ethel.

However, until Successor, the 1956 champion 3-year-old and Dr. Fager run their first races as 3-year-olds at the Aqueduct meeting opening next Monday, some hard-to-convince fans haven't yet climbed aboard the Reflected Glory bandwagon.

Nevertheless, the way the son of Jester out of Lysistrata by Waller announced Saturday that he had signed two of the state's top basketball players to applications for scholarship aid, including the school's first Negro player.

The signing to applications is as far as Waller can go until the actual signing date April 1. Those signed are 6-foot-4 Jackie Ridgle, a Negro from Altheimer Martin and 6-foot-6 Larry Grisham from Pine Bluff White Hall.

Ridgle averaged about 25 points a game this season and Grisham averaged more than 20 points per game.

SMU Could Put Coach in 300 Bracket

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Writer
Doc Hayes, last of the old guard in Southwest Conference basketball, takes his Southern Methodist team to Lawrence, Kan., March 17 for another try at the NCAA championship.
Southern Methodist, conference champion for the third straight year and last team Hayes will coach, meets Louisville in the first round of the regional tournament. And there hangs a tale—the efforts of the last real veteran coach to try for the big one against probably the strongest opposition a conference team ever faced.
Louisville is No. 2 in the nation. Kansas, another team that's virtually certain to be there, is No. 4. And Houston, the No. 7 team, may also make it. Houston plays New Mexico State at Fort Collins, Colo., in an elimination that will furnish the fourth team in the Lawrence regional.

If Houston comes through then the regional tournament will be the strongest in the country.
Hayes retired as coach Saturday after 20 years at Southern Methodist, during which he won five conference titles outright and tied for three more.

He was the second veteran coach at SMU this season. Buster Brannon retired at Texas Christian after 24 years as a coach in the league. Last year Glen Rose retired at Arkansas after 23 years.

The three represented 67 years and were the only ones with 20 or more years experience each. They had won a total of 20 championships.

So it means a new era in more ways than one in conference basketball when Hayes has finished his last season with competition in the NCAA regional.

This applies to the players, too. Southern Methodist loses four of its starters—Charley Beasley, Denny Holman, Bob Bob Begert and Bob Jones.

Other teams lose heavily, including Texas, which has three starters departing; Texas Christian, which lists four top losses; Rice, which has three regulars on the way out; Texas Tech, which loses three; Arkansas, which will be minus two but has a good freshman team coming up.

Baylor keeps five of its six top players and seems to be in the best shape of anybody for 1968. Also, the Bears played in very hard luck the past campaign and could have done much better with a few breaks.

Texas A&M also should be in much better shape since it doesn't lose a single starter. However, the Aggies dropped 18 games the past season, having the worst record in the league.

Coaches returning represent only 26 seasons—Harold Bradley of Texas, eight; Gene Gibson of Texas Tech and Bill Menefee of Baylor, each six; Shelby Metcalf of Texas A&M, four; Don Knodel of Rice and Duddy Walker of Arkansas, one each.

There will be new coaches at two schools—Bob Prewitt at Southern Methodist and Johnny Swaim of Texas Christian.

May Try an Experiment With Willie

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It's October, 1972, and Willie Mays, who is 41 years old, has 713 lifetime home runs, just one less than Babe Ruth's career total. The Giants and Dodgers are tied for the National League lead and are playing each other on the last day of the season.

The Dodgers lead 1-0 in the eighth inning and Mays, used only as a pinch hitter now, bats for the pitcher. He lines the second pitch into the leftfield stands, tying the game and Ruth's record. The crowd goes crazy, but they are waiting for the next inning.

The Dodgers go out in order in the ninth and so do the first two Giants and then—what's this?—Mays pinch hits again. Another homer for Willie, who breaks Ruth's record and wins the pennant for the Giants?

Impossible, you say? Against the rules? Maybe not if an experiment now being tried in the Chicago White Sox' spring training camp at Sarasota, Fla., works out.

The Sox announced Sunday they had been given permission to use the same pinch hitter twice in any game against American League opponents during eight games of the grapefruit season. The other teams will have the same option.

The only restrictions are that the batter to be used twice must be designated before the game starts and that he can't bat twice in the same inning.

Eddie Stanky, White Sox manager, said, "Both basketball and football have changed their rules for the fans and we should do the same. Furthermore, this means the specialists can stay around longer and when expan-

Georgia Tech Has Signed First Negro

By RON SPEER
Associated Press Sports Writer
ATLANTA (AP) — Racial barriers which have kept Negroes out of college athletics in Dixie are continuing to crumble, with Georgia Tech joining the growing list of Southern schools recruiting Negro athletes.

However, the whites only sign still is up unofficially in athletics at many Southern campuses despite integration of high school sports in most of Dixie.

Georgia Tech's decision to actively recruit Negroes was disclosed Saturday after two all-Negro teams had battled into the finals of the formerly all-white Georgia high school basketball championship, with Negroes also playing on other teams in the tournament.

Athletic Director Bobby Dodd said Georgia Tech "will recruit any athlete we feel is good enough both athletically and in school," and he said a Negro football player was offered an athletic grant but failed to meet the school's stiff scholastic requirements.

Several other major colleges in the South have Negroes on their freshman teams or are recruiting Negroes this winter.

Vanderbilt has two Negroes on its frosh basketball team, including standout Perry Wallace, who rooms with a white athlete. Two Negroes on Kentucky's freshman football team last fall are expected to become the first of their race to play football in the Southeastern Conference next fall.

Negroes have never competed in any sport on a varsity level in the SEC except baseball, where Tulane's Steve Martin played conference rivals last spring.

Ston comes again we can get by with smaller player limits."

In other spring training action Sunday, rookie Bill Sorell hit a home run giving Tom Haller's team a 3-1 victory over Mays' team in the Giants' first intra-squad game of the year.

Rich Rollins hit two homers and rookie Ron Clark hit another in a Minnesota Twins game. Gene Alley, Donn Clendenon and Bob Oliver hit home runs in a Pittsburgh Pirate intra-team game.

Bernie Allen's homer led coach Eddie Yost's team to a 3-2 victory over Coach Joe Pignatano's team in the Washington Senators' camp.

The Boston Red Sox are waiting to see if infielder George Smith will be lost for a long period because of a knee injury suffered practicing a run-down play.

New York Mets' Manager Wes Westrum said rookie Greg Goosen was pressing catcher Jerry Grote for his job and the position is wide open.

Mickey Mantle continued working out at first base in the New York Yankee camp and outfielder Bill Robinson, acquired from Atlanta in the trade for Clete Boyer, worked for 20 minutes in the batting cage.

American Ski Jumpers Short Again

OSLO, Norway (AP) — American ski jumpers came up short again in competition against Europe's best at the 75th Holmenkollen jumping classic.

Bjorn Wirkola and Bent Tomtum gave Norway a 1-2 finish in the event Sunday while the best American effort was turned in by John Balfanz of Minneapolis, who placed 45th with leaps of 237 and 236 feet.

A crowd of 70,000 — including King Olaf, Prince Harald and Princess Astrid of Norway — saw Wirkola, a two-time world champion, soar 271 and 269 feet and earn 211.1 points for distance and style. Tomtum, a junior, took second place with 201.9 points on jumps of 260 and 270 feet.

Max Gelsner of Austria was third with 201.8 points and had the longest jump of the day — 274 feet.

Franz Keller of West Germany took the combined title, based on the jumping event and Saturday's 15-kilometer cross country race, with 258.25 points.

THE WELL CHILD

Horseplay May Have Harmful Repercussions

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Horseplay sounds like good clean fun but is it? The laughter of the practical joker who goes around pulling the chair or the rug from under his playmates all too often turns to chagrin.
Although the perpetrator means to cause no serious harm, all horseplay has a way of backfiring. I would not, however, suggest that it will ever be possible to eliminate horseplay from the normal growing up of children, especially boys, who have a great need to burn up excess energy and relieve natural tensions.
Missiles propelled by a rubber band in a schoolroom, paper airplanes with pins taped to their beaks and thumb tacks sent sailing across a room with a snap of a finger may be a source of boundless amusement until they connect with another child's eye. Even throwing a snowball at the back of another child's head can have tragic repercussions if the intended victim suddenly whirls around and catches the snowball with his eye. One such bit of misfired horseplay is enough to impress a muck-needed lesson on the prankster—but what a price to pay!
Since the urge to indulge in horseplay is no more likely to be eliminated than the occasional urge to eat too much or to stay up too late, how can its effects be minimized?
Try to teach your child to think before he acts. What might be an acceptable prank on dad must be absolutely for-bidden if dad happens to be shaving or driving a car. And a bit of foolery that might make mom laugh could be entirely inappropriate if she is peeling potatoes or lifting a steaming roast out of the oven.

Allergies — Your Personal Poisons

By Allergy Foundation of America (Distributed by NEA Special Services)

If you aren't suffering from an itch, a sneeze, a cough or a wheeze, count yourself lucky.
Millions of your fellow citizens are struggling with these very real impairments of their health.

It's a good bet that allergies are involved. And these people are sufferers in our most modern of health hazards, the strange individual sensitivity to things harmless to most human beings.
As medicine gets shackles on many of our ancient health enemies—infectious diseases, TB, polio, among them—the mask has fallen and we have found behind it myriad miseries we didn't know about.

Formerly these skin, bronchial or gastric disorders would have been confused as complications of mightier diseases. As modern medicine probes deeper into the relationship between the human mechanism and its natural enemies, they are revealed as ailments in themselves.

• They are found to be universal.

• They are purveyors of pain, fear and mental distress.
• They are as much cripplers as many other more dread diseases.
• They can be fatal.

Allergy is not a new disease. It is a newly discovered disease. Its history is little more than 100 years old.

As our understanding of it emerges, it can be plainly seen that it is one of the scourges of our times.

Conditions of contemporary life unite to heighten the miseries of allergy.

Populations swell.

Our cities spread their borders and they discharge ever greater billows of dirt, smog and poisons to pollute the air.

in cosmetics and food preservation—been as profuse.

The very discovery of beneficial drugs to thwart other diseases has brought its own multiplication of allergic effects.

Our homes, tight and comfortable, exact their own price.

The very fact that food varieties in our stores are the most abundant in the history of the world brings a burden of danger as does the increasing mobility of our citizenry.

ELEGANT GROCERY SHOPPING

MIAMI (AP)—Wall-to-wall carpeting is only one of the unusual features of Bert's Grocery Store in suburban Coconut Grove.
Bert Albury also has installed sculptured Italian lighting fixtures and walnut paneling.
Shelves are lined with paper lace dollies.
"I wanted to be different," says Albury. "I want to have a unique place. Well, I think I've got it — and the customers love it."
Other touches: Bert's carries French bread flown here within 24 hours after it leaves the oven in Paris, canned octopus, boiled quail eggs and fresh fruit from South America, Africa, Australia and Switzerland.

Chocolate-covered ants and caterpillars are a popular item.
Albury finds it hard to keep them in stock.
He says, though, that his gourmet food is "good — not goofy."

Blondie

Found only in the south-west Pacific island of New Caledonia, the cagou, like many birds throughout the world, is in danger of becoming extinct. A member of the crane family, the cagou has an orange beak, white feathers, short wings and is about the size of a chicken. Like the kiwi of New Zealand, it cannot fly. According to The World Almanac, there are only about 20 cagous in New Caledonia, where thousands once lived.

This week's series will cover the problem of reopening the bidding when your opponents stop at a part score. We start with a horrible example from a match point duplicate game. There was nothing wrong with the first round of bidding. West had a sound opening bid and South was justified in reopening. He had spades and it was obvious after East's pass that North was going to show up with some strength.

West's two diamond bid was a trifle dangerous but West was looking at three aces and two kings. North's raise to two spades was sound. East's three heart bid was typical duplicate tactics. He had passed to one heart and now was ready to compete. South and East had done all they could and North proceeded to double three hearts. His theory was that his partner would make two spades for a score of 110 (60 plus 50 for the part score) and that if he set three hearts one trick he would only collect 100 points unless he doubled.

His analysis was correct. Playing at three hearts West would have to lose two heart tricks and one trick in each other suit. Unfortunately, North had reckoned without his partner. South was unwilling to defend against three hearts doubled and ran out to three spades.

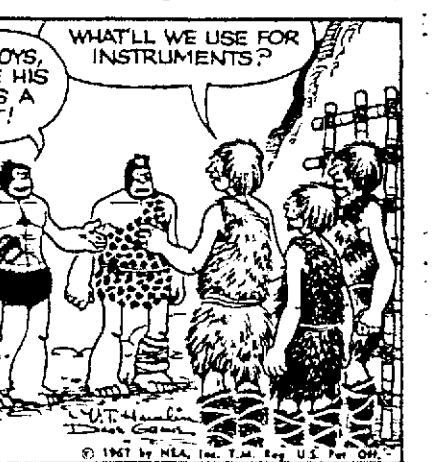

West doubled this on general principles and five potential tricks. As the cards lay, West might actually have beaten South two tricks by opening the king of clubs although South could hold his loss to one by guessing the location of every card, but West started out by taking his high red cards and South was down one for the same bottom score that down two would have been.

Athens, in southwest Arkansas, were pelted by large hail, heavy rain and damaging winds early Sunday night. The weather bureau issued an all clear bulletin at 2:30 a.m.

With power knocked out in the Central City area, police could not determine the extent of damage. No estimate of losses was available.

The Central City section is located about one-half mile south of the Oaklawn Park horse racing track. It was not damaged.

Most of the injuries at Hot Springs and Little Rock were reported to be minor, but four persons were held over night at Hot Springs.

The tornado also caused some damage on the north shore of Lake Hamilton.

Services were in progress at the Hebron Baptist Church on John Barrow Road in Little Rock when the storm caused some damage there, but no one was reported injured.

Law enforcement officials and civil defense personnel guarded against possible looting in the Central City shopping center where windows were blown out of stores and the roof blown in on another.

Efforts to prevent looting were also taken at Little Rock where windows were out in some stores on Seventh Street, Little Rock's furniture row.

CHRISTIANS ON POLITICS

NEW YORK (AP) - For 2,000 years, Christian leaders have been speaking out on social issues such as political justice, civil rights and family law, as shown in a compilation of their statements throughout the centuries.

They are included in a new Anchor book, "Christian Social Teachings," by the Rev. George W. Forell, a Lutheran theologian at the State University of Iowa.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

MAKE IT LEGAL

Dear Helen: I am a girl of 25 with five lovely kids. I left my husband about a year ago and he only sends enough support to feed half of them. I'm very lonely and met a wonderful guy who says he loves us all. He's willing to give us the nice home we never had.

But my family is against it. They can't help me support the children. I need someone, and this man seems so right. Is it wrong? - P. H.

Dear P: Your family has a point, so long as there's only a separation - not a divorce. Why not make everything nice and legal? If this man is as wonderful as you say, he'll go for marriage too. - H.

Dear Helen: Our son, age 19, says he belongs to a fishing and gun club, where he goes every week-end, and sometimes on week-nights too, when they "study guns" etc. But I'm not so sure. I was cleaning out his sports car today and found five speeding tickets, plus quite a lot of personal things belonging to females.

Also, his club must serve something stronger than coffee, as he comes in very late and very far from sober. He has a good job, but he may not keep it long at this rate. What kind of rod and reel club would you call this anyway? - WISE MOTHER

Dear Mother: I'd say it was a (hot) rod and reel (ing drunk) club, and your son may be sporty, but he's not an outdoor sportsman. When a 19-year-old comes home drunk two or three nights a week, it's time for parental action. Tell him, in a firm, under your roof, conforms to your rules - or else! - H.

Dear Helen: I have a drinking problem, but who wouldn't, having to work in an office with 15 females! On week-ends, I hit the vino, get along fine without it through the week, except on Mondays when I fight a hangover.

I hate my job, dislike dames, think life isn't worth the effort. The only person I ever loved was my mother.

There's something very wrong with my life. I think I'm only happy when I'm blotto. Yet nobody knows this but me - and now you. What would you recommend? - JACK

Dear Jack: . . . A good psychiatrist. He would be the best investment you ever made. - H.

Dear Helen: My husband has his meals on a TV tray, so he can watch the sports or news broadcasts. He won't eat with the family - we make too much noise. When we're in the living room and say even a word he's all over us. One night he threw a beer can at our son and raised a welt. Another time he emptied a whole glass of beer over our daughter's head because she asked me something about school work. He lives for that TV. We only talk when we go into the bedrooms. Don't tell me to leave him. I love him, but it is right to have to talk in whispers or not at all in your own house? - TIRED OF "SHUT UP!"

Dear Tired: It certainly isn't right! And I wouldn't do it. There's three of you to one of your beer-guzzling, TV-addicted husband, and if you can't educate him into NORMAL viewing habits, you deserve all the browbeating you get. Next time he throws a beer can, I hope he misses and breaks the tube! - H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Star, at 8 p.m.

Brazil Crash Kills 53, 41 Survive

By HENRY COLE
 MONROVIA, Liberia (AP) - An American serviceman on leave from Vietnam was reported among 41 survivors of a Brazilian plane crash in Monrovia Sunday. Fifty-three other persons were reported killed, including an American woman passenger and five Liberians into whose home the plane crashed.

The four-engine DC8 jetliner of Varig Airlines plunged into a house two miles short of the runway while attempting to land in a fog. It left Beirut Saturday night and stopped in Rome before heading for Monrovia and Brazil.

The surviving U.S. serviceman was identified as Spec. 4 James A. Brown, on 30-day leave from the U.S. Army 3rd Hospital in Vietnam. His mother lives in Sao Paulo, Brazil, the hospital said.

The U.S. State Department said the American woman who was killed was Muriel Swarner, an employee of the U.S. Agency for International Development, en route from Katmandu, Nepal, to Monrovia. She has a sister, Mrs. C. C. Chalmers, in Spirit Lake, Iowa, and a brother, Marvin, in Arnolds Park, Iowa.

Liberian Aviation Minister Romeo Horton said the plane carried 70 passengers and 19 crewmen and that 46 passengers and 2 crew members were killed. Most of the survivors were taken to Monrovia hospitals. The pilot and copilot survived, but were not available for comment.

Varig headquarters in Rio de Janeiro listed 71 passengers, but said they included an infant who may not have appeared on the manifest in Monrovia. The airline said its information indicated all the survivors were in good condition.

An employee of the Monrovia airport said the jetliner circled the field, swung out to make a landing approach and then went down and burst into flame. He said he rushed to the scene in his car and found some survivors walking around.

Friends Live Behind the Fences

DRESDEN, East Germany (AP) - "You can always tell where 'our friends' live," the middle-aged East German said with a smile. "They are behind fences like that one with the red stars and the remarkable green paint."

He pointed to a Russian barracks area beside a road. The buildings were behind a fence painted pale green, red stars on the gates. Similar fences wall off Red army barracks all over East Germany.

Near Wittenberg, for example, machineguns atop parked armored personnel carriers peep above such a fence.

The term "our friends" is used by many East Germans with tongue in cheek, a play on such posted Communist party slogans as "everlasting friendship with the Soviet Union."

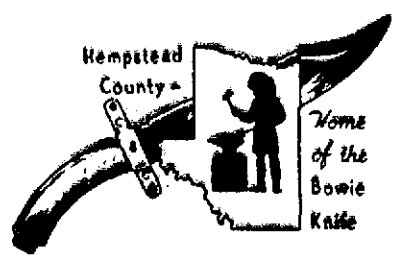

"No private citizen would put up such a sign on his own initiative," said an old man in Finsterwalde.

Tornado Hits Points in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Two to four inches of snow, some mixed with rain and sleet, fell on northern Arkansas this morning after a tornado, high winds, thunderstorms and hail pelted much of the state Sunday night.

The early morning snow and sleet made driving conditions for much of northern Arkansas hazardous and forced schools in at least four counties to postpone classes today.

Eureka Springs received three inches of snow this morning and at least two inches had accumulated at Harrison and Gilbert by mid-morning.

Schools were closed in Boone County, several in Newton and Madison counties and at Conway and Mayflower in Faulkner County.

The U.S. Weather Bureau at Little Rock forecast that the snow would end this evening after an accumulation of two to three inches as far south as Little Rock.

One inch of snow also was reported at Batesville, one-half inch at Calico Rock, one inch at Morrilton, one inch at Mayflower, half inch at Center Ridge, half inch at Damascus, with rain and sleet at Mount Ida, Searcy and Hot Springs.

The tornado and high winds did considerable damage in Little Rock and Hot Springs although officials were hampered in their efforts to determine the extent of damage by the adverse weather conditions this morning.

The tornado dipped down on the Central City community just southwest of Hot Springs at the dinner hour, injuring six persons, destroying four houses and causing major damage to at least 14 others.

Two injuries, neither serious, were reported at Little Rock where high winds swept through much of the southwest section of the capital city damaging homes and some stores, uprooting trees and knocking down power lines.

At Morrilton, Conway County Sheriff Marlin Hawkins said hail as big as golf balls pounded the city for about five minutes, leaving the ground covered two to three inches in depth.

Hawkins said it was impossible to tell how much damage was done.

Most of southern Arkansas was under a tornado watch until 5 a.m. while Langley and

U.S. Has Completed Buildup of Infantry in Vietnam Conflict

By FRED HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States has just about completed its buildup of infantry-type forces in South Vietnam, military officials said today.

They said these forces should be sufficient to neutralize Communist main force units.

Further increases in U.S. arms strength in Vietnam will be concentrated in support and combat support elements, they said.

These will include more artillery to back up the infantry, more helicopter companies, more ground transportation outfits, more supply handling units and a wide variety of roundout detachments.

The helicopter fleet, key to U.S. ground troops ability to strike far and wide, will go from the present level of about 2,000 choppers to perhaps 3,200.

The pace of the over-all U.S. buildup has slowed as the leveling process sets in.

About 11,000 nonreplacement men landed in South Vietnam last month, compared with 15,000 in January and 27,000 in December.

Total strength Feb. 25 was 415,000. The planned buildup is due to reach about 470,000 by the end of this year.

These projections hinge on the expectation that there will be no dramatic changes in the charac-

Legislature Goes Into Final Week, Gambling Bill Still Hot Issue

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas legislature moved into its final week of the regular 60-day session today with hopes of wrapping up unfinished business before the session ends Thursday.

With a stormy Saturday session behind them, the legislators will keep their eyes on Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller today to see what action he takes on the bill which legalizes gambling in Hot Springs private clubs.

The Arkansas House passed the Senate bill last week and sent it to Rockefeller, who said he would not sign the measure "under any circumstances."

The governor, however, has not said whether he will veto the bill.

In the unusual Saturday session, the House refused to reconsider its approval of the gambling bill after debate in which Rep. Bill Wells of Hermiteau implied that Rockefeller had made an agreement to permit the measure to become law without his signature.

The governor also came under attack in the Senate when Sen. Earl Griffin of Crossett charged that the administration told members of the Cosmetology Board that if they would fire five field inspectors, they would be hired to replace the field inspectors.

Rep. John Harberson of Nashville aimed a few remarks at the Game and Fish Commission when the commission's budget bill came up in the House.

Harberson charged that one employee was kept on the commission payroll to act as "a private guide for big shots," and he said "privileged characters" were being allowed to keep house trailers on Lake Maumelle outside Little Rock in violation of commission regulations.

The House, however, passed an appropriation of $4,087,492 in each year of the next biennium to keep the commission operating.

The House also approved two appropriations recommended by the legislative committee that investigated the state prison system.

One is for $44,800 to hire additional prison personnel for the rest of the present fiscal year and the other is for $289,000 to build 14 more houses for employees, two warehouses, three inmate barracks, a women's reformatory and to enlarge and equip laundry facilities.

The Senate failed to pass a bill appropriating funds for the governor's proposed Department of Administration, but Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton kept the measure alive by giving notice that he would ask for reconsideration within three days.

The Senate failed to vote on an Insurance Department bill after defeating three proposed amendments regarding salaries for two actuaries.

In other action Saturday, the Senate approved bills to:

— Require that a percentage of any increase in tax funds for public schools be used to raise teachers' salaries.

— Permit state boards or commissions to deposit money in banks or savings and loan institutions even if a member of the board or commission was an officer, stockholder or employee of the bank or savings and loan.

— Authorize grand jury investigations of all state elections.

— Add permanent type road structures such as pre-cast bridges and culverts to the list of items that counties may purchase without taking bids.

— Direct the state Publicity and Parks Commission to establish a state park at the Park Indian Mound in Cross County.

— Require insurance companies selling stipulated premium policies to establish legal reserves.

— Provide Police Retirement System benefits for widows and children of officers killed in the line of duty even if the officers were not members of the sys-

38 Persons Killed in Air Crash

By ROBERT E. MILLER

KENTON, Ohio (AP) — An airliner flown by Lake Central's senior pilot exploded out of a stormy sky Sunday night, killing 38 persons in the airline's first fatal crash.

Wreckage from the Convair turboprop plane was scattered over snow-covered farm fields near Mansfield, a town of 170 residents in northwest Ohio.

About 150 officers and volunteers probed through snow and ankle-deep mud for the bodies, most of them found in a bean field where the main part of the fuselage fell.

The bodies were hauled in tractor-pulled farm wagons to a temporary morgue in an unused elementary school.

Investigating teams from the airline headquarters in Indianapolis and the Civil Aeronautics Board moved in to probe for the cause of the first major domestic air tragedy since a crash Aug. 6, 1966, near Falls City, Neb., took 42 lives.

The plane's flight recorder was recovered intact.

Some residents timed the first blast at 8:10 p.m., the exact time an air traffic control center in Cleveland reported it lost radar contact with the plane.

Five minutes earlier the pilot, Capt. John Horn, had radioed he was climbing from 8,000 to 10,000 feet, apparently to avoid storms which swirled sleet and snow over the area.

Horn, 45 and a Lake Central pilot since the line's first flight Nov. 12, 1949, gave no indication of trouble, but residents told of one or more explosions.

"It sounded like an awful combustion and we thought there had been an automobile accident," said Irene Heckathorn.

"There was no fire, no lights on the plane. I even heard the engines after the first explosion. We still heard the engines after the last two explosions."

Her husband, Robert, found a small girl's body in his yard.

Most of the wreckage of the Convair 580, a propeller craft converted to use turbojet engines, fell a mile away from the Charles O. Redding farm.

"About half the fuselage was intact," said Redding's son, the other half looked as if it exploded outward. The cabin looked like it had been split in two."

He said most of the bodies were within 200 yards of the wreckage.

One of those killed was an infant, among 10 passengers who boarded the plane at Cincinnati. The flight began in Chicago and was to terminate in Detroit after a stop in Toledo.

Lawyers to Hear About Russian Tour

It is announced that the Hempstead County Bar Association will meet Tuesday, March 7, at Perry's Restaurant at Perrytown for its regularly scheduled monthly banquet and program.

Former State Senator F. C. Crow will be installed as President, Albert Graves, Junior, as Vice-President and Norman M. Smith as Secretary-Treasurer, of the organization. They are all Hope lawyers.

George W. Pecka of Texarkana, Arkansas, Banker will tell the lawyers of his recent tour of Russia.

Circuit Judge William H. Arnold, III, of Texarkana and Hempstead County Judge Finis Odom have been invited to express their views on the custom of requiring attorneys to serve without pay for the commission of a crime.

Arkansas law now provides for the Quorum Court to make an appropriation that may be used upon certification of the circuit judge to pay court appointed attorneys for the time they invest in representing paupers with the commission of a felony.

It is said that Hempstead is the only county of the Eighth Judicial Circuit in which the Quorum Court has not made an appropriation as authorized by a 1953 Act of the General Assembly.

Johnson Offers Draft Lottery Plan, Younger Men Going in First

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today he will order younger men drafted first under a lottery-type system as part of an overhaul of Selective Service.

His announcement of actions to come within two years — mostly without need of congressional approval — follows months of study and controversy over the nation's draft system.

The President said deferments for fathers, men with essential occupations and most graduate students will be ended.

But in a special draft message sent from the Texas White House, he postponed indefinitely a politically touchy decision on whether to end undergraduate student deferments. Family hardship deferments will be continued, Johnson said.

He asked Congress to extend for four years the draft law expiring June 30.

He made it clear that some features of the revised draft system he has in mind would be adopted for months — perhaps not until 1969.

Johnson shied away from total endorsement of recommendations made to him by a 20-member advisory commission in a report released Saturday.

Although a commission majority urged an end to all student deferments, Johnson asserted that "an issue so deeply important, with so many compelling factors on both sides, cannot be decided until its every aspect has been thoroughly explored."

He did not indicate when he might make up his mind on this topic.

The President also sidestepped, at least for the time being, a commission recommendation that the nation's 4,100 local draft boards be whittled down to a few hundred. He ordered a management study on that.

For draft-eligible men, the big news was that months may pass before they'll find out exactly where they stand.

Once the new format takes effect, however, draftees will be mostly 19-year-olds selected by lot. Young men will be most vulnerable to the draft for only one year. If they get through that year without putting on a uniform, they'll probably escape military service altogether, barring a big increase in manpower requirements.

Nelson Eddy Dies at 66

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Nelson Eddy, the tall, handsome baritone whose voice thrilled moviegoers in the '40s, died today a few hours after being stricken during a show at a Miami Beach night club.

Only last week, Eddy, 66, once the highest-paid singer in the world, said that he would continue working "until I drop" because "I love it."

He was at work, singing to some 400 listeners, when his voice failed and he was helped off the stage. A Mount Sinai Hospital spokesman said he apparently suffered a stroke.

Gas Dumps Near Hanoi Are Bombed

By PETER ARNETT

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. planes bombed a petroleum installation 12 to 14 miles south of Haiphong Sunday in the closest raid in weeks to North Vietnam's chief port.

A U.S. spokesman reported a secondary explosion was set off in the raid on the Do San depot, the highpoint of a day of air attacks against the North hampered by worsening weather.

Air Force and Navy planes flew only 69 strike and armed reconnaissance missions.

In South Vietnam, a Viet Cong mine exploded under a bus 40 miles northwest of Saigon, killing 37 civilians and wounding 15, and the U.S. Command announced that 24 Americans were killed, 78 were wounded and four were missing in war operations in the past 48 hours. Six U.S. Army and Marine helicopters were reported downed by enemy fire.

A total of 46 enemy dead was reported by U.S. forces.

U.S. authorities announced that two U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom jets were responsible for the accidental bombing Thursday of the refugee-packed Montagnard village of Lang Vei. The U.S. Command said the planes made three bombing and rocket passes, killing 83 civilians, wounding 175 and leaving 10 missing.

As yet, there was no explanation for the cause of the bombing mistake. Reliable sources said the planes dropped CBU antipersonnel cluster bombs among other ordnance and this may have accounted for the large number of casualties.

The American ground casualties were disclosed under a new policy of giving specific numbers of men killed or wounded in action. The U.S. Command for the past 18 months had been reporting casualties only in terms of light, moderate or heavy, to deny information to the enemy, but American authorities said this frequently resulted in ambiguities and "the results of U.S. military actions were misunderstood."

Many of the casualties reported today occurred in small engagements in Marine operations south of the demilitarized zone and in Operation Junction City, the big U.S. sweep in Cambodia border.

But eight of the Americans were killed in Binh Dinh Province, about 300 miles northeast of Saigon, when enemy fire brought down a large CH47 chopper. The aircraft was badly damaged.

Hope Star today salutes the Conway Log Cabin Democrat as the fifth of Arkansas' 30 daily newspapers to convert to the offset system of printing. The "Log Cabin" came off with its first offset edition Saturday afternoon, March 4—and a beautiful production it is judging from the exchange copy we received over the week-end.

No. 1 conversion in the state was the Rogers Daily News; No. 2 the Springfield News; No. 3 the El Dorado Daily News & Evening Times; No. 4 Hope Star—and now the Conway Log Cabin Democrat.

Other Arkansas conversions are possible before the year is out, as the revolutionary fever spreads among small-city publishers. Many of them have visited The Star's plant not only from Arkansas but also from Mississippi and Texas. Frank Robbins III of the Conway paper was here on several occasions last year, and another, Bonner McCollum of Forrest City Times-Herald, is arriving Wednesday night to spend Thursday inspecting our plant.

January a year ago Henry Harris of the West Point (Miss.) Times Leader and his two pressmen drove 300 miles to visit us—and last January 16 he came off with his first offset edition, as beautiful as they make 'em. Things were chaotic around The Star at the time of his visit—our first month in offset—now they're chaotic in West Point. But we all get well eventually.

The big trouble is: A newspaper is a living thing that has to be gotten out every day regardless how your shop is jammed up with two complete printing plants. First you learn the offset system, then you sell off the old plant and get some "living space"—and pretty soon you bring order out of chaos.

Now that The Star has cleared out its old plant we are remodeling the composing room, installing a ladies' lounge, flooring the shop with dress tile, and painting and decorating the big work area in general. After this we will hold open house and show the public the machinery of offset printing which wasn't in existence 10 years ago.

Every man knows the precise date when he made a vital decision in his own business. Mine was made in April 1959. You will recall that was the month we issued the 16-page tabloid "Golden West Pictorial"—the most beautiful piece of printing ever produced under The Star's name. The pictures, the writing, and the typography all were The Star's—but not the presswork.

Our press simply wouldn't print it. Too many pictures. Our old flatbed press didn't produce enough ink to handle the 43 photographs jammed into that tabloid. So I loaded our metal page forms into the station wagon and drove over to Wallace Hurley's Hurley Printing Co. plant in Camden; he proofed the pages, photographed the proofs, and ran the edition off on his Hantscho general-publishing offset press.

Right then and there I made up my mind it was offset for the future Hope Star. I wrote an article on my experience and National Publisher, the Washington (D.C.) trade journal featured it. The same magazine now has me scheduled to do another feature on our actual experience with the conversion of offset for the June issue.

It may or may not be significant, but the fact is that a few months after my 1959 article declaring that all flatbed presses were obsolete the great Goss Co., largest manufacturers of presses in the world, quit making flatbeds except on special order. And Goss went into the manufacture of rotary offset presses in a big way. I didn't buy from them for our conversion, however. I had a special problem in the Hope situation, including precision color printing, and negotiated for 18 months until Fairchild Graphic & Equipment produced exactly what I had in mind—and The Star bought the third News King Model 475 to come off the Joplin (Mo.) assembly line.
